We believe in the beauty of a pure world untouched by man's carelessness.
We believe that despite all fears, man survives.
We believe that in every night a light of hope shines.
We believe that in a storm a smile breaks through.
We believe that friendship means loyalty, trust, caring, and sharing.
We believe in the brotherhood that binds all races and nations.
We believe in freedom for all men in bondage, whether mental or physical.
We believe that each soul needs a tranquil force in order to survive.
We believe in peace, an eternal bond, to bridge all gaps.
We believe that every man is obligated to feel compassion for his neighbor.
We believe in the right of nonconformity for each generation.
But most of all we believe in one another.

In congeniality . . .

Happy Birthday to Me

School is more than just classes for Wendy May and Greg Baumgarner.

J. V.'s believe "To find a friend, be one."

Happiness is a touchdown to raise our "dampened" spirits.

Father Time brought change and with it came new attitudes, new knowledge, and new people. Despite the alteration, congeniality remained constant in the activities of MSHS. A smile, a word of recognition, or a birthday celebration composed a vital link between individuals. New students witnessed the transformation from being "new" to being a part of our school. By extending a hand of friendship, the motto "To find a friend, be one," was fulfilled.

Even Annabelle likes to sleep in class.

Chris does his own "little" thing for MSHS.

In creativity . . .

The hands of creativity extended in various directions during the school year. Evidence of the students' originality and imagination was obvious throughout the school. Sounds of music, voices blended in drama and chorus, the busy clacking of Marionette and Hurricane typewriters, and discussions of art and interpretive dance echoed within the halls. By means of ornamental horticulture, industrial arts, vocational agriculture, home economics, and foreign language projects, students created instruments for enjoyment and possible future careers.

Debby Tilson, alias Mrs. Savage, holds her most prized possession.

In versatility . . .

From the classroom to the football field, from the library to the gymnasium, the hand of versatility touched the phases of school life. Midst the daily buzz of research and study, students still found time for extras. Each group and each person proved themselves to be amazingly adaptable to changing situations. Each school month found individuals developing their skills and broadening their interests.

In hilarity . . .

And now ladies and gentlemen...

Beta baby Susan Horne says, "May I have a refill?"

Choo, choo! Bang, bang!

I wanta be ju-u-ust like you when I grow up.

Is this our faculty?

Moments of hilarity, no matter how brief, lifted the strain of everyday life. Anecdotes throughout school activities brought a chuckle or a grin to the most serious faces. Teachers and students joined forces to prove that fun and frivolity may still abound in times of hard work. Cares were stored away and troubles forgotten in exchange for moments of light-heartedness. MSHS forgot the daily school routine, but most likely she will remember when the hands of joy brought resounding laughter.

In variety . . .

Cheers arose as applause echoed the pleasure of the audience. Enthusiasm greeted performances whenever students gathered. Each assembly was unique in its own way regardless of the atmosphere, mood, or content. Learned individuals devoted their time and effort in providing a steady flow of entertainment, whether educational, relaxing, or inspirational. The cares of classes were lightened when the hand of variety made its imprint on our school.

In integrity . . .

Love your country--love your nation.

I pledge allegiance to the flag.

Friendship is important even when you're competitors.

Aware of contemporary trends toward protest, our student body defended the honor of MSHS in academics, sports, and extra-curricular activities. Pupils exhibited sincerity as they strived to obtain higher goals. They proved their loyalty and uprightness by showing respect for their school, community, and nation. In spite of all outside pressures, feelings of patriotism and concern for others acted as bonding forces between freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors.

GAMMA DELTA

In opportunity . . .

Contests offered a chance to compete; clubs offered places for community service; above all, classes offered opportunity for learning. Upon reaching high school, students began to realize the time for decisions had arrived. They grasped at prospects for self-improvement, not only knowledge but job openings, scholarships, and awards. Regardless of the goals already obtained, hands were continually reaching for the next rung on the ladder of success.

Echoes of "We're Number One!" resounded through the halls of our school. Not only sports, but scholarships, scholastic achievement, and community recognition were added together in making our school surpass its competitors. Athletic awards assembly, followed by scholastic awards, brought the realization that each recipient had offered years of practice and effort toward attaining his goals. This work was a must since friendship had no say in determining the victor. Throughout the year the hands of greatness touched MSHS and within her walls, the students were likewise touched with success.

In individuality . . .

Even a queen can cry.

A smile or a frown, a grimace or a chuckle—these portrayed the moods of faculty and students as school days progressed. A cheerleader's joy, a beauty queen's delight, a teacher's disgust, and a student's interests were only a few of the many attitudes mirrored in the faces and actions of those involved with school. Each person's character and personality were revealed in a multitude of expressions. Even dress and modes of transportation added to the spirit after the hand of uniqueness brushed across our lives.

Gaiety was rated near the top during the school year's activities. Attendance at sock hops and special dances confirmed that MSHS had experienced the "new generation." Beautiful girls as well as "hillbillies" could be seen at one time or another at numerous events. Hands were busy preparing decorations for everything from a simple get-together to a formal prom. In agility . . .

Jeff Hart goes over the top for Marion.

In the past school year, students proved that agility required quick thinking as well as quick moving. Our "Sleeping Giants" skimmed across the basketball court to rally victory after victory. The Big Red Machine drove triumphantly through powerful defensive opposition. Plentiful sports activities supplied MSHS athletes with occasions to develop themselves physically. They also gave the student body a chance to reveal its enthusiasm toward our team.

In unity . . .

Spines tingled, hearts beat faster, and spirit was high as the 1970-71 school year sent excitement throughout MSHS. The slogan, "We Believe" was a reminder that separate students believed in separate ideas. Despite this separation, when facing any challenging force the Marion students reacted with a spirit of togetherness. Knowing always that differences existed, the hand of unity swept through the school and left each heart echoing "We're Number One!"

Only with an efficient and reliable staff did Marion Senior High School operate for the 1970-71 school year. At the top of the scale, the school board worked to balance funds and guarantee top-grade teachers for Smyth County. More familiar to Marion High was its own administration with Mr. Williams, principal, and Mr. Henry, vice-principal. Arsenic and Old Lace

presented by Class of '71

On April 1, 1971, the curtains parted to reveal the ability and creativity of the Senior Class as seen in their production of "Arsenic and Old Lace." The play centered around two old ladies who felt it their duty to help lonely old men out of their misery by giving them elderberry wine and a little arsenic. To help the cast smooth their lines and movements the directors, Mrs. Sally Werth and Mrs. Bill Pugh, and the student directors, Gwyn McCarty and Janet Meek, put in many long hours of hard work.

The 1971 Senior Class closed its high school years with the reaping of numerous awards. Marion civic clubs — the Pilot, Lions, and Kiwanis Clubs — awarded their annual gifts to deserving students. The Outstanding Math Student was chosen according to the scores on the test taken for that purpose. The Outstanding Drama Student was the selection of the Forensic Club. Recipients of the I Dare You Award, one boy and one girl, were selected by the Senior teachers. This year was certainly one of highlights for the Seniors.

The Curious Savage

Front Row: Joyce Shields, Mrs. Paddy; Jan Wagoner, Miss Willie. Second Row: Michelle Guy, Lilly Belle; Alan Dean, Samuel; David Kendle, Titus; Jeannie Warren, Understudy to Mrs. Savage. Third Row: John Sanders, Dr. Emmett; Mike Box, Hannibal; John Conner, Jeff; Cindy Fenyk, Fairy May; Carolyn Taylor, Florence.

After weeks of frantic work and preparation, the Juniors were finally ready to present The Curious Savage on November 20. The play told of Mrs. Ethel Savage's struggle to retain control of her dead husband's money. Her children went to any lengths to find the money; they even put Mrs. Savage in a rest home. The play was under the direction of Mrs. Nancy Weems with the help from her student directors, Barbara Brooks and Roberta Hester.

You hate all those things?

Lilly Belle does not like the way things are going.

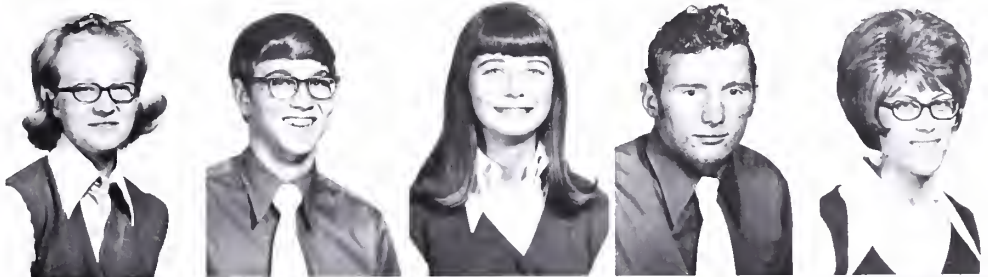

Hannibal's violin solos were not appreciated by everyone else.

in memoriam

The loss of Mrs. Jane H. Waters — our beloved S.C.A. sponsor, teacher, and friend — has sadly, yet irrevocably, etched its imprint upon our beliefs.

Throughout the 1970-1971 school year, we have missed her companionship, guidance, love, dedication, and zest for life. Too, all of us have deeply missed her leadership in school activities. Most of all, those of us in the S.C.A. have missed her counsel and wisdom. Her experience can never be replaced; her faith in us will remain as a constant inspiration.

We believe that Marion Senior High School is a better place because of Mrs. Waters' influence. And, just as firmly, we believe that the imprint we have of her etched in our innermost beliefs will constantly guide us. The finest tribute that we can pay her memory is to perpetuate her work and ideals.

The S.C.A. directs . . .

Front Row: John Sparger, Fred Sprinkle, Gary Price, Monica Campos, Carolyn Snider, John Thompson, Greg Baumgarner. Second Row: Jenny Cornick, Joyce Shields, Becky Patterson, Anne Froehling, Gwyn McCarty, Beth Buchanan, Debbie Heldreth, Beth Morrell, Mike Greer, Belinda Wassum, Pat Smythe. Third Row: Ty Pruitt, Steve O'Neal, Cindy Schwartz, Gerald Blevins, Bonnie Burkett, Danny Hash, Becky Bear, Cindy Fenyk, Jonithan Blevins. Fourth Row: Bobby Hunter, Larry Carlton, Judy Johnson, Margaret Linkous, Mr. Howard Williams, Becky Brown, David Kendle, Judy Jones, Phyllis Barker, Wayne Hodges.

Long meetings with much discussion typified the Student Council Association. The S.C.A. served as a medium between students and faculty. Through the S.C.A., students were able to relate problems within the school. The majority of these problems were rectified. All members of the S.C.A. strived to make MSHS an outstanding school of which the students could be proud.

. . . school activities

Patriotism is one of the most important, but almost forgotten, words in contemporary school life. It was the job of Greg Baumgarner to raise the flags every morning and to promote pride in our nation and school.

Students exhibiting the qualities of good citizens were rewarded by being named Citizen of the Month. One boy and one girl were chosen each month. Jeannie Warren votes for citizen of the month while chairman Joyce Shields watches.

Foreign exchange student, Monica Campos, finds the Bear family's jokes unbearably funny.

Citizens of the Month for September - Gwyn McCarty and Freddie Sprinkle.

Citizens of the Month for October - Gary Price and Carol Richardson.

Citizens of the Month for November - Greg Baumgarner and Debbie Tilson.

Citizens of the Month for December - Carlos Blattner and Betty Hunter.

Citizens of the Month for January - Ronnie Kirby and Monica Campos.

Citizens of the Month for February - Edward Cressel and Janet Meek.

... Citizenship

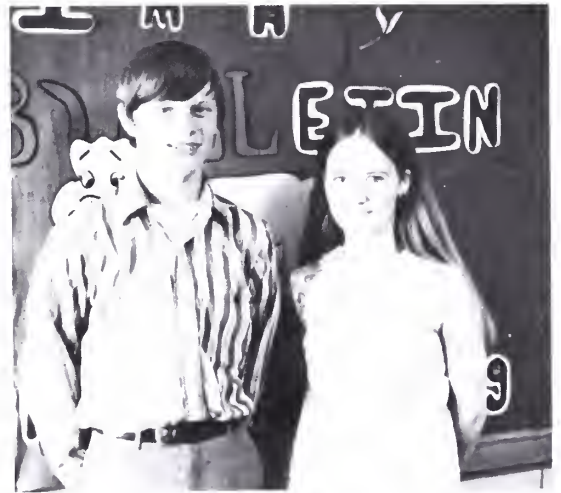

Citizens of the month for March - Bill Weaver and Pat Smythe.

Citizens of the Month for April — John Bauman and Anne Froehling.

Once each month, the assembled student body was given the announcement of the Citizens of the Month awards. One boy and one girl were nominated by each homeroom teacher according to merit and leadership. Final voting was done by the S.C.A. Council. The climax of these awards came when Pat Smythe and John Bauman were chosen from the list of Citizens of the Month to be the Citizens of the Year.

Citizens for the Month of May — Johnny Johnson and Beth Buchanan.

Citizens of the Year were Pat Smythe and John Bauman.

Special committees . . .

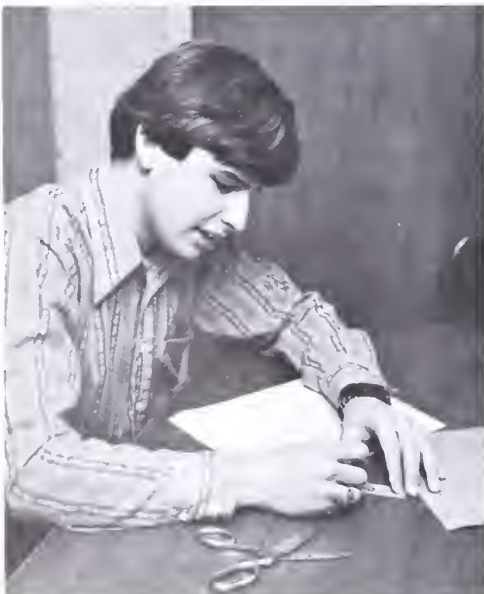

The Scholastic letters presented to those who scored highest on the competitive tests were jointly sponsored by the S.C.A. and the Beta Club. Lists of students taking the tests were compiled by Beth Morrell, Beth Buchanan, and Jackie White. Winners received awards in the Scholastic Awards Assembly.

Susan Burnside, Anne Lambert, and Ronnie Kirby presented the new students with copies of the Swamp Fox. This handbook helped students to become acquainted with the rules of MSHS, and provided valuable information concerning school events.

Becky Brown and Cindy Schwartz were responsible for most of the bulletin boards found in the halls of MSHS this year. The bulletin boards were very attractive and represented various areas of school life.

During the summer the Name Tag Committee was hard at work making tags for the faculty and entire student body. A different style was made for each class. The tags made it easier for students and teachers to become acquainted.

To capture the memories of the 1970-71 school year, the S.C.A. compiled a scrapbook. Anne Froehling and Jenny Cornick worked long hours putting this book together and collecting material from all the clubs.

JUNIOR TRI-HI-Y

One hundred needy children were made happier at Christmas by the Junior Tri-Hi-Y, who provided them with a party complete with Santa Claus and presents. These freshman and sophomore girls also gave a Thanksgiving food basket and played a junior part in sponsoring the Christmas Dance. Money was brought in mainly through a bake sale and an egg sale.

BOYS' SENIOR HI-Y

To see a smiling young man offering services in a mass of parking cars brought to mind the Boys' Senior Hi-Y. Money was earned through a post-ballgame sock hop.

JR. HI-Y

An outgrowth of the Senior Hi-Y, the Boys' Junior Hi-Y invited all freshmen and sophomores to become members. The Thanksgiving assembly for the school was arranged by this club in cooperation with the Junior Tri-Hi-Y. These young men also helped to carry the load for sponsoring a successful Christmas dance.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

"Lights please!" and the curtain went up to reveal another creation of the Industrial Arts Club. Lighting, sets, and sound for plays, assemblies, and other paid community events were contributions to MSHS made by the students enrolled in general shop, mechanical drawing, and power mechanics. To obtain funds, a Pepsi machine was maintained at the shop. Industrial Arts also got its share of the funds for any staging it worked out.

SCIENCE

Bacteriology, astronomy — these elements provided subjects for the Science Club projects entered in the County Science Fair. The only prerequisite for membership was an interest in the field of science. Despite its small size, the Science Club contributed to MSHS activities.

FUTURE HOMEMAKERS OF AMERICA

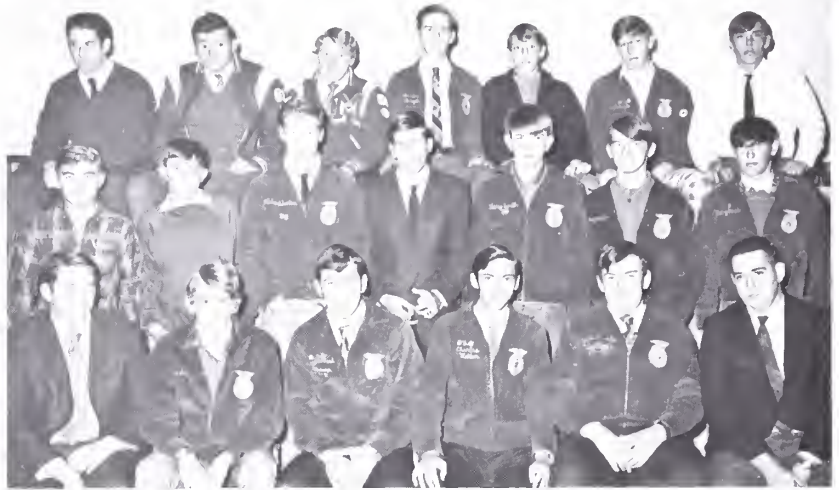

Knitting, sewing, cooking, decorating -- these were a few of the phases of homemaking studied by the Future Homemakers of America. Budgets were balanced by the selling of Tom Watt kits and sponsoring a Sadie Hawkins dance. This year, a spring formal replaced the traditional F.H.A. - sponsored Valentine dance. Each month brought election of a new "Girl of the Month." Senior members terminated their F.H.A. experience with the competition for the Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow award.

FUTURE BUSINESS LEADERS OF AMERICA

Happiness was a more familiar word to at least two families because of the efforts of the Future Business Leaders of America. FORENSIC AND THESPIAN

Sets, costumes, and memorizing lines were a real part of the Thespian events. Only on a point system were invitations issued to students for this dramatics honor society. DISTRIBUTIVE EDUCATION

Watching the clock was a necessity for the Distributive Education students. At approximately the same time each day, the D.E. group left its study of marketing, retailing, wholesaling, and business procedures. Its purpose was to gain the valued experience offered by on-the-job training. Highlights of the year for D.E. included District Rally, District Leadership Conference, and the State Leadership Conference.

PEP

"We're Number One! We're Number One!" were the cries heard from the Pep Club members. With the purpose of promoting spirit, posters and goat tags were made and distributed throughout the school. Sports events were sparked with spirit when sections were reserved for the school's largest club. It also added to the football games by decorating the goal posts for home football games with colorful red and white streamers.

VARSITY

"Most Beautiful" was the title given R.V. Olinger at the Varsity Club's beauty pageant. In addition to this spectacle, club members sold concessions at home ball games. Their aims were promoting school spirit, good sportsmanship, and pleasant atmosphere for the sports at Marion. Seniors were justly rewarded with sweaters during athletic awards assembly for the part they had played in our school sports.

The District Tournament held in Grundy gave Coach Harkins and his "darkhorse" team an opportunity to prove that their 9-9 regular season was no indication of their worth as a team. After two dazzling victories, they lost a heartbreaker to Gate City to obtain second place.

J.V. Outstanding Season

Kneeling: Eric Shankman, Coach Sayers, and Joe Thompson. Standing: Jerry Parks, Paul Graves, Mike Livesay, Mark McCloud, Kenny Parks, Kim Harvey, Jonithan Blevins, Bobby Hunter, John David Crewey, Jackie Bivens, and Alan Linkous.

Coach Sayers was gifted with one of the most powerful J.V. basketball teams in the history of the school this year, and they amassed a brilliant 17-1 seasonal record. Their only loss was to Abingdon by three points, but they came back later in the year to beat Abingdon and avenge their loss. In the Smyth County Tournament, they appeared invincible and won the county championship with ease. Everyone knows Coach Harkins cannot wait to coach the future stars as Varsity roundballers next year.

The Freshman basketball team, coached by Buddy Brockman, was composed of boys who had no previous basketball experience. Despite this handicap, the boys played exciting basketball all season long and showed promise as future J.V. and finally Varsity roundballers. The tough competition they faced this year will aid them in later campaigns, giving them the experience they need to play basketball against the type of competition they will see in later years.

Kneeling: Teddy Murphy, Roger McNeil, Tommy Martin, Duane Mazingo, and Robert Parsons. Second Row: Coach Brockman, Charles Gill, David Roland, J. Arthur Guy, Jeff Richardson, Jay McDonald, and Chuck Richardson.

The '70-'71 girls' varsity basketball team brought another season to a great close when they trampled their opponents to net a 12-2 record. Their efforts were rewarded when they captured the Smyth County Championship. The Junior Varsity Squad brought recognition to MSHS when they piled up twenty-six consecutive wins, making them an undefeated team for two straight years. Miss Jeannie Duncan coached both the varsity and junior varsity teams this year.

Marion's wrestling team, coached by Moe Weaver, finished the regular season with a 10-0 record, boosting their five-year mark to 63-1. The undefeated regular season gave Marion sole possession of the District Championship, and the matmen took their fifth Regional Championship in six tries by a margin of thirty-six points in Hurricane House. As if this were not enough, Moe's Men won fourth place in the State Tournament at Warrenton, Virginia, and Edward Cressel, 132-pound senior, became Marion's first state champion.

This year's baseball team, coached by Alvin Crowder, is expected to win the district title and place high in regional competition in spite of an unusually tough schedule. Always noted for a great defensive team, the Hurricane is blessed with talented hitters this year as well. Coach Crowder also tutors one of the best pitching staffs in Southwest Virginia.

Rusty Sneed tees off.

The golf team of 1971, coached by Larry Sayers and Charles Harkins, will again make a strong bid for another district championship. Gifted with very talented returning lettermen such as Ron Kirby, Rusty Sneed, and Johnny Linkous, and many promising new athletes, the golf team is probably one of the strongest in recent years.

Johnny Linkous tees off.

Danny Shuler, James Barker, and Bobby Runyon are promising young athletes who are willing to work hard.

The Cross-Country Team, organized only this year by Coach Brockman, brought renown to M.S.H.S. in District, Regional, and State competition. After defeating such strong teams as Radford and Blacksburg, the Distancemen placed high in Regional competition. Johnny Johnson, undefeated in dual meets, placed thirteenth in the State meet.

The Cross-County Team prepares to win another meet.

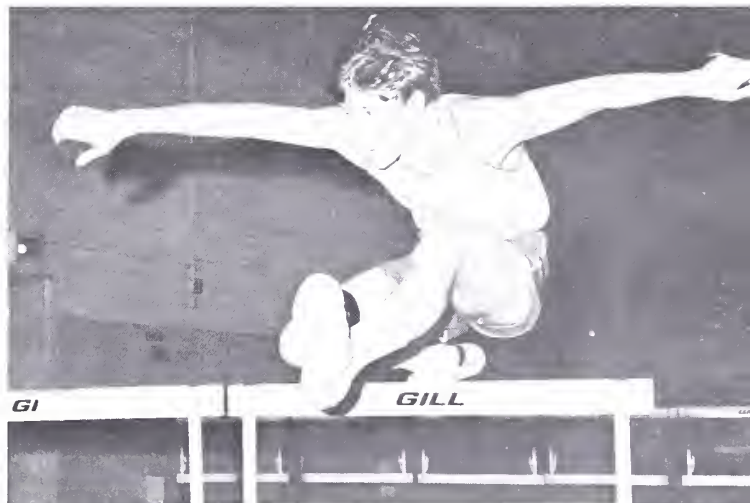

Seniors Johnny Johnson, Carlos Blattner, Steve O'Neal, and Edward Cressel prepare to lead the team to victory.

Dave Kendle wins the hurdles for Marion.

Eddie Snider high-jumps for Marion with outstanding success.

Emmitt Harrison and Jim Barker, evenly matched, leap to victory.

The track team of 1971 is without a doubt the strongest in Marion's history. This year field events and running events are balanced so the Scarlet Hurricanes are free of weaknesses, with convincing early victories over Chilhowie, Tazewell, Grundy, Abingdon, Wytheville, and Pulaski and the Tazewell Invitational Championship. For the second consecutive year, Coach Brockman's Cindermen are heavy favorites to win the District.

Jeff Hart and David Smith excel in the 220.

Victory-bound R.V. Olinger pulls ahead.

make '70

a great success

Much credit should be given to the '70-'71 Varsity Cheerleaders. They are the ones who spend many hours trying to make each athletic event a big success. Besides going to a cheerleading camp in the summer, these girls put many hours of work into making new cheers, skits, and spirit signs. Sponsored by Mrs. Ann Burton each girl did her very best to create an epidemic of Hurricane Fever at MSHS this year.

Dixie gives loving attention to Mr. Hurricane.

Jayvees and Scarlettes spread Hurricane fever

The J.V. Cheerleaders took an active part in motivating spirit at MSHS. They cheered at all the J.V. games, at pep rallies, and helped the Varsity Cheerleaders at all times. Besides that, they made cupcakes and spirit signs and treated the boys at every game. Making the scene in their new white and red uniforms, these girls, without a doubt, made MSHS proud of its Junior Varsity teams.

For the second year in a row the Scarlettes brought half-time entertainment to the Hurricane House. Dressed in new red and white uniforms and wearing snappy blue "gaucho" hats, the Scarlettes once again made a big hit at all the basketball games. The captains of the drill team, Pam and Brenda Russell, went to SMU in Texas this summer to learn new dance routines. The Squad is directed by Mrs. Jane Weaver and Co-Directed by Miss Jean Hoback.

The reality of the future will soon overshadow the joys and heartaches experienced in '70-'71 school session. As a generation of believers, we must work toward peace and brotherhood among all men and all nations. The '71 HURRICANE staff hopes that each student will move on to attain higher goals. When the time comes for separation of seniors, juniors, sophomores, and freshmen, the hands of the future will not sever the bonds that were strengthened during this year of being together.
